

The victim of an allergic reaction may have symptoms such as hives, difficulty breathing, abdominal cramps, and swelling of the throat, lips, tongue, or eyes. In this situation, you must ask permission before helping.

To use an epi pen to help someone having a severe allergic reaction, take it out of its protective case, and remove the cap.

Press the orange tip of the Epi Pen against the thigh until it clicks and hold it in place for three to ten seconds.

Get emergency attention immediately.

DISCLAIMER

The Site Does Not Provide Medical Advice

The contents of the Chloescomics.com Site, such as text, graphics, images, and other materials created by Chloescomics.com or obtained from Chloescomics.com's licensors, and other materials contained on the Chloescomics.com Site (collectively, "Content") are for informational purposes only. The Content is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. Always seek the advice of your physician or other qualified health provider with any questions you may have regarding a medical condition. Never disregard professional medical advice or delay in seeking it because of something you have read on the Chloescomics.com Site!

If you think you may have a medical emergency, call your doctor or 911 immediately. Chloescomics.com does not recommend or endorse any specific tests, physicians, products, procedures, opinions, or other information that may be mentioned on the Site. Reliance on any information provided by Chloescomics.com, Chloescomics.com employees, other appearing on the Site at the invitation of Chloescomics.com, or other visitors to the Site is solely at your own risk.